A FRENCH WORD WAR.

Violent Scene in the Assembly—Gambetta Calls the Bonapartist Members Wretches—Personal Insults Offered.

PARIS, June 10.—In the Assembly M. Girerd, deputy from Nieure and member of the Left, read a document which he stated had been circulated during the recent election in that department. The papers urge the Bonapartist officials to confer all appointments in their gift, upon relieved officers who are in favor of the election of Burgoing the Bonapartist candidate, and adds that the Minister of Finance, M. Magne, has furnished lists of such officers to the government. M. Girerd demands an honest inquiry into the affair. M. Rouher disclaimed any knowledge of the document, and insinuated it was fictitious. He declared himself in favor of inquiry and would discuss the subject when the results of investigation was presented to the Assembly. Gambetta accused Ministers Magne and Cisre of conspiracy in this discreditable business. The Bonapartist members of the Assembly endorsed Rouher's offer to discuss matters when investigated. Rouher then reminded the Chamber of charges in relation to improper and fraudulent contracts and appointments reported by the Committee on Acts of the September government against M. Gambetta.

OPIUM ANTIDOTE.

Stop, Read, Reflect and Act Before it is too Late!

Dr. S. B. Collins' Painless

OPIUM ANTIDOTE

Is a perfect and painless cure for

The Habitual use of Opium, in any of its forms, whether as

MORPHINE,
LAUDANUM,
ELIXIR, or GUM OPIUM,

It Positively Produces a Permanent Cure.

IT is strange yet true, that as a rule it is the brightest intellects, the best members of society become addicted to this diseased appetite. A habit which makes them slaves, beclouds their minds, ruins their dispositions, and gives them in their more natural moments a hatred of self as well as a feeling that everybody despises them—to such an extent that society has no charms. But thanks to the Giver of all good, this morbid, terrible habit, and degraded condition, as well as all of the desire and feeling for opiates in any form is soon removed by this remarkable antidote, entirely so, and the weakened body and mind are invigorated, given renewed health until love and hope take the place of despondency and doubt. Though you may not be afflicted with the habit of using MORPHINE, LAUDANUM, or other forms of OPIUM, some friend may be, and you know it not, therefore let me ask you, in the name of suffering humanity to pass this on. By so doing you may reap the reward of those who do good. Delay not.

BREVITIES.

—Gold closed in New York at 10 1-8.

—Cotton closed in New York at 18 1-4 a18 1-2; in Liverpool at 8 11-16.

—Wisconsin won't let clergymen kiss the bride any more, and fees have jumped from 50 cents to $5.

—The number of pilgrims who visited the tomb of Mahomed at Mecca this year is said to have been 160,000.

—A Newport, N. H., lady has a geranium which measures eight feet in height and fourteen feet in circumference.

—This world is all a fleeting show,
How sweet from it to pass,
To vanish up the chimney as Carbonic acid gas!

—A lady up town, who suspects her husband of "taking something" occasionally, compels him to say "truly rural" three successive times when he gets home.

—A Des Moines genius has invented an automaton fire-lighter. He lies in bed, pulls a string which sets the kindling on fire, and when he hears the kettle singing he gets up.

—The population of Galveston, as ascertained by a census just completed, is 34,000. It was only about 14,000 by the last United States census. But it is said that the Federal census was not complete.

—A New York man, who believes in advertising, paid a bill of $78,000 the other day for a year's work, but it was money well spent, for the earnings resulting from that advertisement, which were divided among four persons, footed up $650,000.

—The Seneca tribe of Indians now consists of one old horse, a chief, and three gallons of whisky. A few more setting suns—a few more moons—a brief season, and that three-gallon jug will join its comrades in the happy hunting grounds.

—Receipts for the preservation of furs abound in all the papers, but the old plan promulgated by Punch long ago is the best. This is to pull out all the hairs with tweezers and varnish the skin. In the spring remove the varnish and carefully stick all the hairs in their old places.

—The will of the late General Dyer is a madel for brevity and clearness. It runs as follows: "I, Alexander B. Dyer, chief of ordinance, United States army, reposing the utmost confidence in my beloved wife, Eliza B. Dyer, bequeath all my property, real and personal, to her, and constitute her sole executrix."

—An absent-minded gentleman, writing a letter at the breakfast-table, dipped his pen in his coffee and continued his letter. Noticing his mistake, he put a lump of sugar in the ink, and then, finding his second blunder, poured the contents of the inkstand into the coffee-pot to set it right.

—A Dresden paper says that seventeen experiments have been made during the present year, with invariable success, in the hospitals of that city, to infuse lamb's blood into the human subject. In the first case the patient had long suffered from from pulmonary disease, and the immediate effect of the operation was to raise the pulse and impart a sense of greater strength.

—Another railroad in Texas. This one is known as the Dallas and Wichita. It commences at Dallas; is to run forty-five miles in a direct line to Denton, and thence in a northwest direction to the mineral regions of Northwest Texas. The total length of this road will be two hundred miles. The route has been located and twenty miles, commencing at Dallas, are being graded.

—The Augusta Chronicle calls attention to the fact that there will be two elections in Georgia this fall—one on the 14th of October for members of the Legislature, and one on the 3d of November for Congressmen. In January, 1875, county officers will be chosen. One election would answer, but the Legislature of 1872 thought best to give us three and there has been no change in the law.

—General Beauregard has just returned from a trip to Galveston and Houston, for both of which cities he is consulting engineer, and, we learn, has recenfly received a letter from a representative of the Argentine Confederation tendering him, in the name of President Sormiento, the position of military engineer, for the purpose of making reconnoissance on the River La Pla, with the view of establishing a line of defences. The General is empowered to name his own terms and to select his own staff, the arrangements to be perfected through the Minister of the Confederation at Washington (Garcia,) who is now temporarily absent in Paris.

THE Governor yesterday accepted the resignations of W. C. Greenleaf, Ordinary of Pierce county; also, that of W. L. Smith, Notary, 383d district, Madison county.

YESTERDAY executive orders were issued for the election of officers of the following companies: "Oconee Rifles," at Watkinsville; an artillery company (not named), in Atlanta; "Lincoln Guards" (colored), at Valdosta.

THE New York Daily Bulletin, after carefully scanning THE CONSTITUTION'S reports of the growing cotton crop from different sections of the State, concludes that the stand in general is small, and needs moisture. We have got the latter in generous measure.

THE Fifth district is still far ahead of any other district in the number of Congressional aspirants, and perhaps it is steadily gaining in that respect; but the Eighth district already presents the following list of names that have been mentioned by their respective friends: Hon. L. N. Trammell, Colonel George N. Lester, Hon. Wash Johnson, Hon. P. M. B. Young, Hon. A. R. Wright, Colonel D. O. Printup, Captain Dunlap Scott, Colonel T. W. Alexander, Colonel Nathan Bass, Hon. J. W. Wofford, (declined, but still willing if thrust upon him) and Colonel J. O. Waddell.

WHEN General Butler tried in vain, on Monday, to take the civil rights bill from the Speaker's table and refer it to his Judiciary Committee, with leave to report at any time, ten Democrats were out of their places and did not vote. Thirteen Republicans voted in the negative, and a great many did not vote at all. It is generally assumed in Washington that with ordinary care and vigilance on the part of Democratic members it can not pass. Correspondents should make it a point to give the names of the Democratic members who are absent from the post of duty when a vote is taken on this repulsive and disorganizing bill.

The Presidential-Jones Letter.

The [illegible] conducted [illegible] of the [illegible] depth of the White House has profoundly agitated the country. Nearly all men, however, agree that its appearance was very inopportune, very menacing, and very dictatorial. Committees of conference from the two houses of Congress were actually engaged in an effort to prepare a bill on the subject discussed in the memorandum; and just before they had attained [illegible] satisfactory result the executive dictates to the legislative department what kind of a bill will escape a veto, and what will not. It is an additional indication of the utter demoralization and downward tendencies that attend the last stages of Radical rule.

The Western Republicans in the House are outspoken in their denunciations of the President's course, and openly declare that the time has come when a rupture must be made with the President. They believe that he is bound hand and foot to the wealthy bankers and great capitalists, and are anxious to make the rupture as wide as possible. To this end it is believed that the compromise of the conference committee will go through both houses, thus affording the President a chance to put his new doctrines in the shape of a veto message.

The Republican party is hopelessly divided by this strange document. The Western wing is in favor of more currency, and no candidate can hopefully face his constituents on a platform, in that section, that agrees with the President's memorandum. The third party begins to loom up in the Western horizon—the party of Morton, of Logan, and of the radicals on the broad prairies almost to a man. Pennsylvania is also aroused, and the Southern Republicans are only neutralized through fear of a veto of the pending civil rights bill. A division in the party is inevitable, arraying the agricultural against the manufacturing and commercial interests.

What led the President into this new and strangely-promulgated departure is sorely puzzling the wise men at Washington. After packing the Supreme Court in favor of the Legal-Tender clause, the President suddenly changes front and wants the clause repealed without benefit of clergy. In none of his papers or utterances has he heretofore made the remotest allusion to a repeal of the legal tender act. Who converted him? And why did he thus suddenly submit to conversion? There is evidently a method in his financial madness that means more than is now revealed. As the New York Bulletin well remarks, all that the public certainly knows is that he has added another element of doubt and embarrassment to the already muddled financial situation.

Boards of Education.

Commissions were yesterday issued to the following gentlemen as members of the Boards of Education: Thomas county, James McDonald; Lowndes county, Archibald McLeod, J. B. Burton, John McCall, B. F. Moseley and Walton Joiner.

The Lowndes County Board were elected by the grand jury at the last May term of the Superior Court of that county, in the place of the board which, upon their recommendation, was removed by Judge Hansell, for "general neglect of duty."

A RECENT letter from Rome says that the first steps have been taken by the Pope for the canonization of Christopher Columbus. The learned doctors of the Church have been examining his title to Catholic heroism, and find it good. His daring resolve to go West led to a great enlargement of the Christian world, and the Church is prepared to assert that the grand act was almost, if not quite, one of inspiration.

PAUL H. HAYNE, in the last number of the Southern Magazine, reviews A Daughter of Bohemia, the latest production of the gifted North Carolina writer, Christian Reid. Mr. Hayne says this novel exhibits many of the best traits of her former works, while "it is perhaps superior in totality of effect, in finish of execution, to many of its predecessors."

FROM the answers received, we are warranted in stating that there will be at least forty or fifty members of the press present on the occasion of the Banquet. We would state that invitations have been sent, or were intended to be sent, to all our Georgia newspapers, and if any have not received them, they will please consider themselves invited.

A FRANKFORT correspondent of the New York Herald says that Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad Company's bonds are now quoted at 15; while the bonds of the Georgia, Brunswick and Albany Railroad, bearing the repudiated guarantee of the State of Georgia, are quoted at three cents on the dollar.

WE give our readers to-day a most interesting batch of letters from the people on a variety of topics. Read them.

Mormon Sophistry.

"Now," said he, "I will suppose myself to be a Gentile, and at my death in some way I have attained heaven—the heaven all Christians desire when they talk of 'sitting down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, in the kingdom of God.' Well, the angel opens for me one of the pearly gates of Paradise, and I am about to walk in and take my place, when my eye rests upon Jacob sitting there with his four wives, Leah, Rachel, Bilhah, and Zilpah, with all their children. I draw back in disgust, and tell the angel that I can not sit down with that old polygamist.

"Well, the angel kindly shows me in at another gate. But there I see David, 'the man after God's own heart,' and Solomon, the man whom he endowed with celestial wisdom; I see them with crowds of wives and hundreds of children. 'Worse and worse,' I tell the angel; 'I won't go in there. Is there no other place for me?'

"'Oh, yes,' replies my divine conductor, 'there is plenty of room for you outside, 'for without are dogs and sorcerers, and whore-mongers, and murderers, and idolators, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie.' I think that is the place that will just suit such particular people as you!' And so I am obliged to put up with the society of God's favorites, or with that of the devil's imps."—Orson Pratt's Address to the Mormons.

Patrons in Session.

MECHANICSBURG, June 10.—The State Grange of Patrons of Husbandry commenced its session here to-day. The attendance is very large. The principal object of the meeting is to ratify or reject the amendment to the national constitution adopted by the National Grange at St. Louis.

Died, at Pope Hill, Jefferson county, on the 26th ult., Mrs. Elizabeth Russell, aged 78 years.

Fourth of July Celebration.

Editors Constitution: If the people of Atlanta want [illegible] of the next 4th July the grandest occasion in our post bellum history, let them prevail upon the Hon. Alexander H. Stephens to address them on that occasion.

THOSE CLASSIC HALLS.

"Oft in the Stilly Night."

OXFORD, GA., June 9, 1874.

Editors Constitution: Oxford is usually a place where we "learn to study and to wait," but there is a yearly season during which we are inclined to do but little of either. That season is now upon us. When the time comes for Dr. Smith to take from his capacious pocket the paper on which are written the names of those who have gained the honors and speaker's places, we then cease to relish study and are willing to wait until he can pronounce the all-absorbing result. The Sophomore and Junior speakers have been announced, and the [illegible] honors and places will be [illegible]. The Sophomore and Junior [illegible] were awarded to the following young men. (We published them yesterday.)

"Oft in the stilly night" these young men may be found with pen in hand writing "those thunderbolts of eloquence" which the audience is destined to hear at commencement.

On Sabbath Bishop Pierce preached twice to a large congregation. Long may he live to labor in the vineyard of his Master.

The Land Sale—A Place that Needs no Jail—The Crops—No Crop Liens but Bud-worms.

CHAPEL HILL, Douglas Co., Ga., June 6th, 1874.

Editors Constitution: You solicit matters of a local character from all parts of the State. Many sections have responded, but we, of "Slocum," seldom let the outside world know what we are doing.

We will give you a few dots which you can publish or consign to your chip-basket.

On the 27th ultimo the

was sold at auction with the exception of a few lots. The round sum of seven thousand dollars was realized by the county from the sale of this property.

This land was donated to the county by our esteemed fellow citizen, Young Vansant, on condition that it be cut up into town lots and sold and the proceeds appropriated to the building of the Court House. We need no jail, as we are all honest here. Douglas county has but two representatives in the chain-gang! Can any other county say this?

in this section are somewhat backward in consequence of so much rain in the earlier part of spring.

The bud-worm is playing havoc with the corn, especially on the low bottom lands. Cotton, or at least the greater portion of it, has been planted twice, and yet there is not a stand. We have about half the quantity planted we had last year. Farmers have learned to profit from experience. They have decided to raise their hog and hominy at home.

Wheat, very good; oats, not so good. We have all gone to work with that "go-aheaditiveness" which has ever characterized us as farmers.

Fertilizers are not used so extensively this year as they were last, and but few, if any, crop liens have been given for provisions, etc.

THE NEBRASKA FEVER

is spreading over our country pretty rapidly. Quite a number of our citizens will start to that country with Mr. Echols' excursion party on the 19th of this month.

Douglas county has a good supply of ambitious youths and smiling maidens, and they enjoy themselves hugely. They have their fishing excursions and everything else that tends to promote their happiness.

Some "professor" gives us an occasional call with his magic lantern. He gets the nickles and goes on his way rejoicing.

The concert "ladies" have also been round. They can make "Old Dan Tucker" "git up and git."

THE CONSTITUTION has a more extensive circulation here than any other paper. It is

THE PEOPLE'S FAVORITE.

It is sought for and read by all classes. Long live THE CONSTITUTION.

When we come to Atlanta we expect to purchase a copy of Mr. Trammell's "Ca Ira." Respectfully,

ANDERSON AND ATLANTA.

Business, Railroads and Other Matters Discussed.

ANDERSON, S. C., June 8, 1874.

Editors Constitution: Perhaps you would not object to a few lines from Anderson, the banner county of South Carolina, occasionally, as she has recently become one of your customers. The attention of our merchants has at last been attracted by Atlanta, we suppose, because Atlanta is becoming one of the most prosperous and thorough-going cities of our country, and especially of the South, and it indeed gives us great pleasure to see our merchants patronizing our Southern cities and gradually reducing their trade with the cities of the North. We suppose it is to the interest of our merchants to buy some of their goods in New York and Baltimore, but it is not to their interest to buy everything there, and it seems they are finding this out, and are gradually turning their attention to our Southern markets. We think our merchants deserve credit for this, and their example should be followed by every village and town throughout the entire South. We should patronize Southern industry and enterprise more than we do, and especially the manufacturing interest.

THE ENTERPRISING MERCHANTS

of your city have been ably represented by their talented drummers in Anderson, and we presume they have been very successful in their business here, or one would not see them so often on our streets. We think Atlanta may well be proud of her drummers, for they seem to be among the most business like gentlemen that ever visit our town. They seem always to be bent on business and nothing else. They come, and as soon as their business is finished leave, and do not stay around town several days to bore our merchants to death.

Charleston is also beginning to receive some attention from our merchants. In fact seem destined soon to receive the entire trade of Anderson. And why should they not receive it? Why should not our merchants, who are always alive to anything that tends to advance their interest and promote the welfare and prosperity of our country, give to our Southern cities their trade and custom? They certainly deserve it—they invite it—and if our merchants can buy their goods as cheap in Atlanta and Charleston as [illegible], we [illegible] and doubtless, [illegible] will do it. [illegible] that is transportation. We have almost no way of getting goods to Anderson. If they are ordered by or from Charleston it takes them always to get here, as the Greenville and Columbia Railroad [illegible] no road as can be found anywhere in the United States. Then, if we order from Atlanta they are detained often two or three weeks, in being transported from one road to the other, as the Air-Line and Greenville and Columbia roads are at loggerheads, and one will not do a favor for the other, even if it advances their own interest.

Anderson ships at least

of cotton each year, and if we could have more direct communication with Atlanta, doubtless the larger part of it would go there. However, the Air-Line has been built and there is little to be gained by grumbling over our misfortunes, but we should now look out for another way of opening up direct communication with the the "Hub" of the South. We believe it is proposed now from here to Hartwell, Georgia, and from there on to Gainesville, and it seems to us that this would be an important question to Atlanta as well as to Anderson. It is to be hoped that our citizens will consider the propriety of furthering this enterprise at an early day, and we hope to have the co-operation of the citizens of our sister State of Georgia along this proposed route.

That the

is fast increasing, cannot be denied by any. Our merchants bring on larger stocks of goods now than they ever have before, and another commendable feature in their busines is that they are trying to establish their business upon a cash system. Two years ago Anderson supported only one newspaper, now she supports two very handsomely, and they are always crowded with advertisements from our merchants. This shows that we are improving—(a true rule.) We have been reliably informed that the corporators of the "Anderson, Aiken, Port Royal and Charleston Railroad," chartered at the last session of our legislature, are to be called together soon to take steps toward building this road, and if this is done, and the people of the counties through which this road is to pass, will take the enterprise into their hands and carry it through, this will be another great source of wealth Anderson will be blessed with, and will doubtless form an important link in the great "Chicago and South Atlantic Railroad," which is now being talked of throughout the South.

Would that South Carolina now was the

of twenty years ago. Then there might be some prospects for the completion of these lines of railroads; but as things are carried on now, we fear there is little chance for the completion of these great thoroughfares, which are the life of our country. Very little of that pride which South Carolina's noble and patriotic citizens were once noted for is manifested in our present rulers and leaders. We once had noble and patriotic rulers; now we have in their stead a class of men who have little honesty, and for patriotism no such word could be applied to any of them. American soil was never trod by a more debased set of men than South Carolina now has ruling over her.

JUSTICE.

L. Q. C. LAMAR.

A Sketch of His Life Reviewed and Errors Corrected.

MACON, GA., June —, 1874.

Editors Constitution: In the Chronicle and Sentinel of the 17th ult., is published a sketch of the life of L. Q. C. Lamar, by H. C. Stevenson, of Macon, Georgia. The sketch, from the introduction to the conclusion, contains so many errors that the writer, in justice to Colonel Lamar, whose life-long friendship he has enjoyed, feels impelled to correct.

Error number one—In speaking of Judge Lamar the biographer says: "The only office of prominence I ever heard of his holding was that of Judge of the Oconee Circuit." "He died July 4th, 1834, aged 37 years:"

No such circuit was ever known to the State until 1872, thirty-eight years after the death of Judge L. He was elected Judge of the Ocmulgee Circuit by the legislature, November 30th, 1830, the office being vacant by the death of that experienced and able lawyer, Judge Thomas W. Cobb. In the Memoirs of the Bench and Bar of Georgia, the faithful historian states of Mr. Lamar: "His conduct—when Thomas W. Cobb, about the fall of 1828, became a candidate for the bench of the Ocmulgee Circuit—will serve to exemplify some of the lofty traits which belonged to the character of Lamar. Mr. Cobb had been for many years a respectable member of Congress, desired to continue in the public service, but in the decline of life preferred a station nearer home. That popularity, however, which carried him three terms to the House of Representatives and afterward to the Senate of the United States, now forsook him. He was beaten on joint vote of the General Assembly by a large majority, and for some cause best known to himself, his successful opponent, Judge Shorter, within a few days, resigned the commission of judge, and the vacancy had again to be filled. Cob's friends again presented his name, and Lamar was importuned to offer as a rival candidate. Had he consented his election was morally certain, but he had a becoming respect for Mr. Cobb's seniority and past services, and was no stranger to the unworthy motives of those who [illegible] on a second defeat. His refusal was peremptory, and Mr. Cobb was permitted to take the office he so much coveted.

Before the term for which Mr. Cobb had been elected expired, his death made a vacancy which Mr. Lamar could honorably consent to fill. He came then into office on such conditions as met his approbation, and continued until the day of his own lamented death, to discharge the duties with signal ability, and with applause which few in judicial stations have had the good fortune to receive. When quite young in his profession, Mr. Lamar was chosen by the Legislature to compile the laws of Georgia from 1810 to 1820. He arranged the several acts under their appropriate divisions, and made such references and explanations in notes as were necessary to show what had been repealed or modified. The result of his labors were reported to Gov. Clarke in 1821—he then being only twenty-four years of age—and submitted by him to the inspection of a most able and critical committee, who, having carefully examined it, pronounced in its favor. It was then published in quarto form of thirteen hundred pages. He also revised Clayton's "Georgia Justice," and wrote many political essays for the press. At a meeting of the convention of Judges, in 1831, for the purpose of reviewing a most important decision, Judge Lamar lead the argument and wrote out the opinion of the Judges. This is very remarkable, and furnishes high proof of his intellectual powers and honesty, more especially when it is remembered that Wm. H. Crawford, Judge Law, Judge Dougherty and, I believe, Judge Warner were members of the convention.

"Of this opinion the Hon. Joseph Henry Lumpkin says: "It may be placed on a level with the best productions of the American or English bench."

A handsome monument, in the form of an obelisk, has been erected by the family, over the remains of Judge Lamar, in the cemetery near Milledgeville, on which is the following inscription written by a committee appointed at a meeting of the bar—"Sacred to the memory of Lucius Q. C. Lamar, late Judge of the Superior Court of the Ocmulgee circuit, who during a brief period of four years, discharged the duties of that high office with probity, firmness, [illegible] and unquestionable reputation. The devoted love of his family, the ardent attachment of personal friends, the admiration of the bar, and the universal approbation of his enlightened administration of justice [illegible] the goodness and greatness of one arrested by death too early in the brilliant career in which he had been placed by his native State.

"Born July 15, 17[illegible]

"Died July 4, 18[illegible]

Error Number three—"At the time of his death he had only one child, L. Q. C."

Error Number four—"After Judge Lamar's death Jefferson M. was born." No mention is made of the existence of another son, Colonel Thompson B., and the birth of Lieutenant Colonel Jefferson M. [illegible] his father's death. Judge Lamar was the father of eight children, three of whom died at an early age. Of the remaining five, who lived to be grown, and happily married, two were daughters and three were sons. Jefferson M., the youngest child, and Thompson B., the second surviving son, were no less eminent in civil life in their respective States than illustrious upon the numerous battle grounds of the Old Dominion. From an "In Memoriam," by a meeting of the bar of Newton Superior Court, held in Covington, when the death of Jeff. M. Lamar, Lieutenant Colonel of Cobb's Georgia Legion, who fell in command of the Legion in the bloody struggle at Crampton's Pass, in Maryland, September 14, 1862, in the 27th year of his age, was announced, the following is briefly extracted:

"Mr. Lamar was an ornament to our profession. He was gifted by nature with a mind of the finest mould; his thoughts were clear, his views comprehensive, and his judgment sound. His knowledge of the science of law—a science so vast and comprehensive that it may be said to envelope the complicated business and relations of society as the atmosphere envelopes the globe—was far beyond his years. Young as he was we felt the weight of his opinions, and the force of his reasoning upon the most difficult questions of law, and there were few of the older members of the profession whose legal opinions were entitled to more consideration. As a forensic orator his gifts were of a high order. If it had been the will of God to spare him until the meridian of life had developed his fine powers into full maturity, he would have taken a place in the front rank of the profession.

"There was a quality, equally rare with his talents, which threw lustre over his brief but brilliant career. It was the incorruptible honor and purity of his character. He was an honest lawyer, a truthful, fair, upright, generous man, true to his clients, magnanimous to his brethren at the bar and scorning an unfair advantage of his adversary. He came upon this theatre to win no unhappy triumph but openly and manfully to try his cause by justice and truth. That he would have risen to the highest elevation of both usefulness and honor will not be doubted by any who knew him. But the prospects that dawned upon him have failed, and the honors that awaited him at the bar have been exchanged for the wreath that now encircles his heroic brow."

Colonel Thompson B. Lamnr removed from Covington, Georgia, to Florida, where he united his fortunes in marriage with Miss Sarah Bailey, daughter of General Wm. Bailey, a lady of superior intellectual and moral worth. The following is from the Tallahassee Floridian:

"Colonel Lamar, previous to the war, had occupied political positions in the State of importance. He, for several years, represented Leon county in the Senate, and was a member of the Convention that took Florida out of the Union. Florida has lost a valuable citizen and a brave defender, whose death is a public calamity. When the first note of war was sounded he flew to arms, and commanded a company in the First Florida Regiment at Pensacola. There, with the first brave spirits of the war, he served through the campaign. Subsequently he was chosen Lieutenant-Colonel of the Fifth Florida, and with it went to Virginia. He was wounded whilst rescuing the flag of his regiment at Sharpsburg. Subsequentty he received an appointment on the staff of Gen. Johnston, but returned to his regiment and was wounded in battle again. Recovering from the wound, he returned to his post, and in battle on the Weldon road received another wound which terminated his life, a few days afterwards, at Petersburg. He fell gloriously, in the 37th year of his age—the same age of his father.

Error fifth—"Judge Lamar leaving a handsome property, their intelligent mother was enabled to educate them in the highest manner that the institutions of the State could afford." Judge Lamar left a slender estate; the very intelligent mother educated her orphans in the "highest manner," through the result, in part, of her own industry, indomitable zeal, and high moral example.

Error sixth—"A little more than twenty years ago, there was a law firm in Macon, known as Chapman & Lamar."

Error seventh—"In 1853 or '54 the law firm was dissolved, Chapman going to Alabama, and Lamar to Mississippi."

There never was such a law firm in Macon. Col. L. Q. C. entered the office as a student of his uncle, the Hon. Absalom H. Chappell, an eminent lawyer; and after being admitted to the bar, formed a copartnership with him, and after the firm was dissolved, Mr. Chappell went to Columbus, Ga., and remains there, enjoying, as he did in Macon, the respect and esteem of his fellow-citizens.

Error eighth—"He married a daughter of A. B. Longstreet, who, about the year 1850, was elected President of the University of Mississippi located at Oxford, in that State, and went there to reside. Judge L. did not fill the position long, but after his resignation remained a citizen of the village, and eventually, or a year or two afterwards, died."

In the handsome and well merited eulogy recently pronounced by the Hon. James Jackson at Emory College upon the life of his eminent and lamented friend, Judge Longstreet, the following is summarily taken:

"He was born in 1790, in Augusta, Ga. After receiving his education he studied law, and was admitted to the bar; was the founder and editor of the Augusta Sentinel; published several books and wrote many essays; was elected Judge of the Ocmulgee Circuit in 1822; was a candidate for Congress in 1824, but retired from political life in consequence of severe family bereavement; in 1827 returned to Augusta and resumed his profession, from which he retired in 1838, joined the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church as an itinerant preacher. During the raging of the yellow fever in Augusta, which was so destructive to life in 1839, he and Mr. Barry, a Catholic, was the only ministers that remained to administer to the sick and dying; was the President of four colleges and universities, and honored with a degree of L.L.D. by Yale College at the instance of John C. Calhoun. In 1839 to 1848, he was President of Emory College, at Oxford, Ga. In 1848 he was elected President of the Centenary College, La. In 1849 he resigned to accept the Presidency of the University of Mississippi at Oxford, in that State, and while in office there during President Pierce's administration, was made an honorary member of Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C. In 1856 he resigned in the Mississippi University, and in the following year was elected to the Presidency of the South Carolina College. While in that office, in 1860, during the administration of President Buchanan, he was appointed a delegate to the Statistical College at London. He remained over the South Carolina College until during the war—the students being inspired with patriotism, enlisted in the army. He then resigned and moved to Oxford, Miss., where he remained until his death, which occurred July 9, 1870."

Thus it will be perceived that in the Chronicle and Sentinel's "sketch," eight palpable errors [illegible] and they too expressed in about forty lines of one paragraph in that sketch, which occupies near two columns, and is made up for the most part of incidents of the private, as well as public life, of Colonel Lamar, during his residence in Mississippi, that are irrelevant and unnecessary as many of them are incorrect. Of the latter, a [illegible] while in conversation he is dull, etc. [illegible] a speech, however [illegible], without first preparing [illegible] memory. He has little [illegible] society [illegible] an aversion to [illegible] and [illegible] moody, at which times he refuses to see anybody. Withal, there is a well defined streak of big lazy in the Colonel."

The writer has enjoyed the most uninterrupted friendship and intimacy with Colonel Lamar for thirty years, which dates back to the early days of his college life, has also enjoyed the most affable intercourse with his intelligent and accomplished family; met him at home and away from home in social circles. In conversation he ever found him highly interesting and instructive—frequently with sportive humor and refined wit, and always the accomplished gentleman, genial companion of high moral excellence. He has been an untiring student from childhood. It is his love to master the sciences; he is a deep reflector upon what he studies; his mind is ever active, and what may appear to those not familiar with his habits as indifference is merely reticence while absorbed in profound thought. What he has read he has solved and indelibly inscribed on the book of memory, which he has only to touch to unfold the leaf; hence the many classic and other references in his speeches are thought to be the result of special preparation upon any occasion "however unimportant" Therefore the charge of their being "a well defined streak of big lazy in the Colonel" is simply impossible to sustain, and is actually controverted by another statement in the "sketch," to-wit: "He was a great admirer of Calhoun, and so attentively read all his speeches and commentaries upon government that he became perfectly familiar with almost every sentence the great South Carolinian ever uttered." The Calhoun papers are probably the most voluminous, upon the subjects they treat of, ever produced, being expanded into many volumes; their powerful logic have amazed and staggered the greatest American minds. If Col. L. Q. C. Lamar, LL.D., has so mastered and memorized them as to be "perfectly familiar with almost every sentence the great South Carolinian ever uttered," he is certainly possessed of the most indefatigable industry.

Col. L.'s eldest sister died during the war. His aged mother and his remaining sister are residents of Bibb county.

The following from a prominent periodical, says of Hon. L. Q. C. Lamar, LL.D., at present member of Congress from Mississippi:

"The South is proud of its new leader, Congressman Lamar, who spoke so magnanimously of Senator Sumner the other day. Lamar is about forty-eight years of age. A slight paralytic stroke has aged him somewhat; but he is full of vigor and power. Above the middle height, he presents a good type of the Southern gentle man. He has the large bones and rather loosely knit frame of the limestone region, the dark abundant hair combed back, the square, broad face, refined away from its ruggeder pioneer prototype, and that long, dark beard and mustache almost peculiar to the old South and West, which leave the sides of the face clean shaven, and add to the characteristic expression of this type—powerful men, full of brain, believing in race and brawn. He spoke without notes, though it was evident that every word was carefully selected and had been well weighed before set into its place in this rare mosaic. His voice is good, full and clear, though it is evident that ill health has robbed it of some rich tones. Lucius Q. C. Lamar, of Oxford, was born in Putnam county, Georgia, September 17th, 1825; was educated at Oxford, Georgia, and graduated at Emory College, Georgia, in 1845; studied law at Macon under the Hon. A. H. Chappell, and was admitted to the bar in 1847; moved to Oxford, Miss., in 1849; was elected adjunct professor of mathematics in the University of the State, and held the position as assistant to Dr. A. T. Bledsoe, editor of the Southern Review, which he resigned in 1850, and returned to Covington, Ga., where he resumed the practice of law; was elected to the Legislature of Georgia in 1853; in 1854 moved to his plantation in Lafayette county, Miss., and was elected to the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Congresses of the United States, and resigned in 1860 to take a seat in the Secession Convention of his State; in 1861 entered the Confederate Army as Lieutenant Colonel of the Nineteenth Regiment, and was promoted to the Coloneley; in 1863 was entrusted by President Davis with an important diplomatic mission to Russia; in 1866 was elected professor of political economy and social science in the University of Mississippi, and in 1867 was transferred to the professorship of law; and was elected to the Forty-third Congress as a Democrat, receiving 9,679 votes against 4,954 votes for R. W. Flournoy, Republican."

Very respectfully,

WEST POINT.

Hard Rains—Damage Done—Young Men's Library—The College—Dotting the River with Pleasure Boats—West Point Matters Generally.

WEST POINT, GA., June 9.

Editors Constitution: If the old saying of "a dry May for a good crop year," be correct, we ought to have a good one with us, for we had no rain from the third day of May until the second day of June, and from then in gentle showers until Saturday evening, when it culminated in ever seen in this immediate section by its oldest inhabitants. It came in perfect torrents and swept bridges and fences as chaff before it. And seeing and feeling it would support the terrible reality of a large volume of water such as the Mill River calamity. It has caused considerable damage to bottom lands and fencing all around our community. Two miles above town it washed a small trestle on the Atlanta and West Point Railroad, causing quite a smash-up and wreck of several cars of the Saturday's night train, which arrives here at 2 o'clock in the morning. Fortunately no lives were lost. It's a rare thing that an accident happens on this well regulated and efficient road.

Crops, I think, with us are generally good for this time of year; and, considering all the disadvantages the farmers labor under, we are not very far behind-hand, the May drouth enabling the farmers to chop out their cotton and get ahead of the grass; in fact, I don't think there has been any grass up to now. There was a good deal of wheat sown and it is being gathered, and is very good. Oats, which we thought was badly injured, has come out considerably since the rain, and promises a tolerable crop to the planter.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Our town is gradually and slowly improving. Some old framed buildings have been torn down and in their places some ten nice brick stores are in process of erection, with a large and commodious City Hall, which we very much need. Our beautiful of which we are so proud, looms in the distance on College Hill, and presents quite an imposing appearance, will will be completed and ready for its worthy and accomplished teacher, Col. A. P. Mooty, inside of this month. It is being plastered and painted now. When completed will have some twelve commodious rooms, two storys high, main front one hundred feet, with large octagon columns, with a chapel attached to main building that will comfortably seat over a thousand persons. Too much praise cannot be given to our worthy Major B. F. Reed, Esq. who has taken such an active interest in its construction and completion. It will cost about eight thousand dollars cash, which has been raised by direct taxation from our white population with scarcely a dissenting voice of opposition. Col. Mooty's annu[illegible] sure you a good [illegible], a good time and [illegible] a good [illegible]. Our

is in a flourishing condition and improving every day, and as it gets older I don't think West Point will have reason to be ashamed of it, but will point at it with pride as one of the institutions of our place. A good many of our best citizens are taking an active interest in it, and [illegible] handsome and useful institution. It is some two and a half years old and has nearly a thousand volumes, with over fifty active members. The Association, from its members, gives a dramatical entertainment shortly for its benefit, and from the well known generosity of our people they expect to realize quite a benefit.

The West Point Silver Cornet Band is well known throughout this section of the State; is some six years old, and is considered to be one amongst the best in the State.

Our "West Point" No. 1 fire engine won distinction and renown when it was owned by one of your best companies, they having sold it to us some four years ago, is kept trim and in order. Should the fire king ever visit us we'll show its worthiness.

The merchants of our place, to a man, as for the past few years back, at six o'clock to give their clerks the rest of the day for recreation and amusement, which they heartily embrace. With the river dotted with pleasure boats and boat racing, crowds of our town folks gather on its mossy banks, our excellent band discoursing beautiful strains of music, that are wafted over the waves of our own native Georgia's river, makes us forget sometimes that we are growing old, and our hearts are lighter, and we feel that we love mankind more when we see the young enjoy themselves innocently. Many are the evenings spent in this way by our young people.

CLOSE THEIR STORES

The older people employ much of their spare time in reading the newspapers, discussing politics, and lately

which I don't think, in modern times, anything can approximate except the fight of the Buffs and Blues, Pott and Slurk, of the Eatonville Gazette and Independent. Oh, for Sam Weller and his meal-bag—of course this is said in a Pickwickian sense. I should mention that our good people have formed a stock company and bought a press and material to start a and have elected the Rev. S. P. Callaway, a scholar and Christian, to take charge of it.

We feel confident with such a man as the editor elect, we can show a neat and readable paper, and one that will not reflect upon our community.

We anxiously look forward to the morning's mail for THE CONSTITUTION, which is a general favorite with our people. Its new dress has improved its appearance.

Elect Our Best Men to Office.

NEWNAN, GA., June 8, 1874.

Editors Constitution: In the election which comes off next fall for members of Congress and the Legislature two thoughts should be uppermost in every patriot's heart. One is that Democrats should be elected; the other, that those Democrats should be the ablest and purest men in the party.

If Georgia is to hold her present proud position among her sister States of the South, and continue to increase in wealth, power and influence, then it is a matter of necessity as well as duty on the part of every true Democrat to see that those two thoughts are rigidly enforced.

I will not here review the recent past further than to say that some blunders were made, and the rules given for our future guidance were not strictly observed; and hence there are some matters of regret; yet, under the circumstances, we did well. But now we are untrammeled; so there will be no excuse for blunders and mistakes.

As to members of Congress, while our present delegation are true and worthy men, and were perhaps the best selections that could then be made, yet it is expedient to send a different delegation, in part at least, next time.

We have a number of men in our State who are able and experienced in politics and State-craft, of wide influence and national reputation. Yes, I repeat, we have such men. Their services are needed; they are willing to serve, and it is our duty to elect them.

What Georgian who would not feel a just pride and know that a better day had come, if we were represented in part at least by such men as Ben Hill, C. J. Jenkins, Tom Hardeman, A. H. Stephens and Judge Benning?

Then why not send all of them? It can be, done but not if our people remain silent and leave matters in the hands of wire-workers and bob-tail politicians. They have been our bane, and will be until the frowns of an outraged people drive them from power.

I warn the people to beware, for these office seekers are busy. They are leaving no stone unturned that will promote their selfish aims. They attend Sunday-school, make temperance speeches, honey fuggle grangers, and the devil knows what else.

But all this shall profit them nothing. Let the people see to it that they send their own chosen leaders to Congress and to the Legislature.

The legislation of the next Congress and the action of the Democratic members will virtually decide who shall be the next president. Then how infinitely important, that our ablest and most experienced men be sent to shape the destinies of our country for years to come. Then rally the people; let them act wisely and timely, and the victory will be ours ours the honor and blessings of a good Democratic government.

NEWNAN.

The Brussels Congress.

LONDON, June 10.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Berlin giving the probable action of the Congress which will assemble at Brussels next month to consider the subject of international rights in time of war.

The Times' correspondent says the Congress will codify the recognized usages of international law in so far as they affect the actual conduct of war. A new code is to be enacted in the form of an international treaty, which promises to become the first law common to the whole civilized world. The draft of a treaty which is to be submitted to the Congress has been prepared. It contains seventy-six clauses, which state in detail the rights and obligations of belligerents from the mutual claims of the belligerent States down to the relations of those States to private individuals. They also specify what classes of arms shall be legitimately used in war, and state regulations for the treatment of prisoners.

Official Dots.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—General Van Buren was sometime ago appointed Consul at Kanagawa, Japan. Recently the office has been raised to Consul General. He will leave the United States to arrive at Kanawaga about the first of August, for the purpose of entering on his duties.

Minister Bancroft will remain at Berlin till the arrival of his successor, his nephew, J. C. Bancroft Davis, First Assistant Secretary of Satate, having to-day been nominated for the position. Mr. Bancroft will probably make Washington his home, as he has recently purchased the dwelling house owned by ex-Senator Harlan.

The total amount of claims filed by fourty-two insurance companies for losses by the Alabama and Florida, and by the Shenandoah after she left Melbourne, is $5,000,000. MURRELL'S CLAN REVIVED.

Systematic [illegible] in Pickens County—They Kill One of Their Own Number—A Partial History.

Not long since THE CONSTITUTION republished from the Marietta Journal an account of the finding of the body of Mr. H. G. Turner in a creek in Pickens county with his head split in twain. The article alluded to at its close stated that eight or nine murders had occurred in Pickens county since 1865 without a trial of any one.

From a reliable citizen of Pickens county we gather the following facts, showing that there has existed in that county a band of desperadoes whose deeds entitle them to

RANK WITH MURRELL'S CLAN.

Parties disappeared mysteriously, leaving no trace behind them.

On Tuesday, the 21st of April, last, Mr. H. G. Turner visited a neighbor's house, and failing to return at the proper time, his wife became uneasy, and made diligent enquiry as to his whereabouts. Search was made for him, but proved fruitless until Friday, when his body was found in Shoal creek in the neighborhood of the Sharp mountain settlement, weighted down with ponderous rocks and his head split wide open. Several days after the finding of the body, suspicion pointed to John Edwards, a boy of 16 years of age, as the guilty party. He confessed to the deed, and that his brother, Vester Edwards (some older than himself), assisted him. On the day of the killing, they got Turner drunk, and while he was in a drunken stupor, conceived the plan of killing him in revenge for an old grudge against him. Vester split Turner's skull with an ax. Vester fled to Texas and John pleaded guilty to the charge and was sent to the penitentiary for ninety-nine years.

ANOTHER MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

Some time in 1873 a man named Edwards disappeared, and although he was supposed to have been murdered, his body was never found until some time in February or March, 1874, when it was discovered, much decomposed, by the sons of H. G. Turner, whose death is recorded above. The boys reported their discovery to their father, and he told them to hush it up and say nothing about it. Soon after the remains were removed by unknown parties and has never been found since. Since then it has been discovered that Edwards, the murdered man, had property, and that it was divided among the gang, some five or six in number. A portion of the property was brought down near this city and sold. For prudential reasons we refrain from giving the names of the members of the gang for the present.

A FUTILE ATTEMPT.

One of H. G. Turner's sons sold out his property preparatory to going West, and it was found out by other members of the gang, (he being one, it is said,) that he had realized quite a sum of money. They conspired, therefore, to kill him and obtain his money. They called on a man named Evans to assist them in their murderous operations, who being very drunk, consented. The party got everything in readiness and called for Evans. But in the mean time he had sobered off, and when they came he declined to take part with them, asserting that he was a white man and no murderer, and declaring that he would blow on the last one of them if they did not desist. They desisted from carrying out their fell purpose as to young Turner, but wreaked their vengeance on the unfortunate Evans. In a few days after this he was found suffocated by a stick twisted round his neck, and beaten severely on the breast with a maul. A Coroner's inquest was held, but his body was not examined by a physician. The jury returned a verdict of death from causes unknown to them. It is supposed that members of the gang who killed him were members of that jury.

DEAD ON THE ROADSIDE

The people of the county were terrorized by these mysterious and wanton murders. Men felt it dangerous to leave their houses. The matter was brought before the last grand jury, and over against parties implicated. Some have fled, and the officers of the law are in pursuit.

It is said that H. G. Turner, who was murdered, belonged to the band.

The clan has now been broken up, and the people breathe some freer. The people of Pickens county are doing all they can to bring these miscreants to justice, and do not deserve the obloquy which justly attaches to these desperadoes.

The State Fair.

Is it to be a success, or a failure? If it should prove to be a success, much of the praise will be due our city authorities; and if it should be a failure, much of the blame will fall upon these same gentlemen.

Georgia is an "Empire within itself." She has a delightful climate; is intersected with mountains, valleys and rivers; has a variety of soil, producing all the necessaries and most of the luxuries of life; has excellent facilities of internal and external communication; sparkles with gold, silver, iron, copper, lead, granite, coal, lime, marble; and with this enumeration the story of its treasures hardly begins. The citizens of Atlanta should feel honored that the Fair of such a State is to be held here. That the people from all sections of the State, yea! of the whole country, will assemble in our city; not to discuss some questions of local and temporary concern; not to mingle in the strife and virulence of party politics; not to debate about matters of doubtful expediency, or petty interests. No! the plow, the loom, the anvil, the workshop, the field, and the garden, will be represented. Kind feelings will be promoted, a spirit of improvement will be quickened, an impetus will be given to the impulses of genius and art, beneficial knowledge will be diffused to a wide extent; and powers of usefulness, which would otherwise lie dormant, will be awakened, and be of pre-eminent service to the State. In short, the Fair is adapted to useful ends and is deserving the encouragement of our people.

Looking at the matter simply in a pecuniary view, whatever Atlanta gives will be returned to her. The seed she sows will yield her a profitable crop.

Do our people desire the Fair to be a success? Then they must make it one. This end cannot be attained unless we make it so. This is true of every enterprise that depends on money, labor and exertion of any kind. The cause must operate before the effect that is to follow it, can be produced.

City fathers, do you desire to have a good Fair? Then advance in the matter with courage and confidence, bearing in mind, that in this undertaking, as in other enterprises, "he that soweth sparingly, shall reap also sparingly, and he that soweth bountifully, shall reap also bountifully."

The Tax Ordinance.

The City Council on Tuesday night adopted, with a few amendments, the tax ordinance of 1873.

Two little negro girls, aged respectively 14 and 16 years, named Mattie and Mittie Terrell, were tried before Justice Walker yesterday for simple larceny. The cases entered at the police quarters last night reached the unusually heavy number of twenty-five. The examination of candidates for the position of teachers in the grammar schools was commenced yesterday in the second room of the Girls High School at 9 o'clock A. M., and continued until 2 o'clock P. M.

During the examination, the candidates were not allowed to converse with one another.

The following were the questions to which they were to write answers:

Rev. Dr. W. P. Harrison.

This eminent divine was in this city yesterday, and in the enjoyment of very greatly improved health. Especially since his prostrating attack two years ago, in North Carolina, (whither he had gone to deliver a commencement address, as also in Virginia), much anxiety has been felt by his friends in Atlanta, who were particularly aware of his extremely studious habits.

Upon giving up his charge of the First Methodist Church here, he selected a residence near East Point, six miles from this city, where he enjoys the "truly rural." He has on his place a mineral spring, rivalling the "West End" and "Ponce de Leon." To this the Doctor mainly attributes his more than usual vigor.

He supplied an Augusta pulpit for a while with his wonted "demonstration of the spirit and of power." It is to be hoped, however, that no calls to labor will take him away from his favorite country retreat until his health is completely restored; that he may the more effectively wield the sword of the Spirit in the tearing down of strongholds of sin, and ruinously against wicked spirits in high places. This Damascus blade should have a suitable hilt—a "resting sheath"—for a while longer.

Picnic of Mechanic No. 2.

Mechanic No. 2 Fire Company excurted to Stone Mountain yesterday and passed the day pleasantly. The two aldermen from the Third Ward are reported to have danced without intermission from 9 o'clock A. M. to 4:55 P. M. Dancing was a favorite amusement, but some of the ladies engaged in shooting at a mark with an air-gun. Mrs. William Kershaw won the first prize, a silver cup; Mrs. Kicksey the second prize, a pair of vases, and Mrs. Parker the third prize, a handsome embroidered fan. His Honor, John W. Scruggs, Mayor of Stone Mountain, welcomed the boys in a neat speech, not exceeding fifteen minutes long; he was responded to by James E. Gullatt in behalf of the company. The best of order and decorum was preserved throughout the trip.

THERE will be a special meeting of the Grocers' Protective Association to-day at 5 o'clock. A large attendance is desired, as business of vital importance to the Association will be acted upon.

Several Sunstrokes—Counterfeiter Arrested.

RICHMOND, June 10.—Mercury 100 in the shade in Richmond to-day.

There was one fatal sunstroke yesterday and one to-day, which was not fatal.

G. W. Campbell has been arrested near Blacksburg for passing counterfeit fifty cent notes. A number of others who are known to be dealing in bogus money have been ascertained, and will probably be arrested.

The Moieties.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The Senate to-night passed the moiety bill, after a discussion of three days. As passed, the bill provides that books and papers may be examined under an order of the court, the defendant or his agent being present, the owner of books to have the custody thereof during examination, subject to the order of the court. The penalty for false invoice is a fine not exceeding $5,000 or less than $50, or imprisonment not exceeding two years, or both, and forfeiture of package containing the particular item to which such fraudulent invoice may relate. A provision of the bill is that suits commenced on forfeitures incurred previous to May 1, 1874, are not affected by it. So that informers or spies who have instituted proceedings prior to that time will obtain their moieties; but repeals all moieties and provides that all fines, etc., shall be paid into the National Treasury.

The bill passed by a vote of 38 to 3. The negative votes being Flanagan, Pease and Howe. Quite a number were opposed to several features in the bill, on the ground that they did not relate to the abuse of moieties, or the improper seizure of books and papers, but voted for it as a whole in order to get rid of fees to spies and informers.

A Maniac in a Circus Ring.

[Columbus (Ky.) Dispatch.]

We understand that one day last week Roadmaster Gilman, of the Iron Mountain railroad, became wildly insane in Fredricktown, Missouri, and dashed into a circus tent on horseback, while the performance was going on, rode through the ring and out through the audience, creating the wildest excitement imaginable. He was taken charge of by friends, and has since been sent to the lunatic asylum. We understand Mr. Gilman became deranged a number of years ago, for which he was treated at an insane asylum, and supposed to have been permanently cured, having had no symptoms of a return of the infirmity until the sudden affliction named.

J. M. HOLBROOK,
37 Whitehall street,
june7-3t Atlanta, Ga.

WE would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Horace Waters & Son, headed, "Waters' Concerto Parlor Organs," and for a description of them we can't do better than to copy the following:

New Feature in Organs—Waters' Concerto Parlor Organs.—The great merit of the concerto stop is, that it approximates nearer than any other to the human voice. If we avert the attention from the instrument while this delicate addition is being operated, the impression is instantaneous that it is to the human voice under exquisite culture that we listen. Of course the origin of this improvement, and the exact manner in which its advantages have been made so prominent in this organ, are known to the patentee alone; but we doubt if the inventor can make it plain why the direct result has occurred. The effect of the concerto attachment is simply softening and vocalizing. It seems to catch a note that might have been harsh and reedy, and at once soothe into something as sweet and musical as a human whisper. The writer was informed by Mr. Waters that on account of the popularity of these organs, the instruments were bought up almost as rapidly as it was possible to manufacture them.—Brooklyn Union.

COMMERCIAL.

[illegible] MARKET.

[illegible], June 10, 1874.

Cotton closed [illegible] in Atlanta.

There were five bales sold for speculation in New York to-day. It is supposed that [illegible] backed from the 8 bales yesterday, and take five anyhow.

TROPICAL FRUITS.

[illegible] a [illegible] load of bananas and pine apples. There were 280 [illegible] of the former and 3,600 of the latter. The bananas were direct from Jamaica, only seventeen days out of Jamaica. Captain George Bush imported them. The pine apples were direct from Key West, Florida, and were brought out by Captain Wm. Belton. Mr. Frank Rose, the celebrated fruiterer, of Mobile, also [illegible] the above gentlemen. They say it is their intention to keep Atlanta supplied with tropical fruits.

On 'Change.

Yesterday at the meeting on 'change, President Crane called attention to the fact that Messrs. J. M. Patton & Co. had received a letter from Elberton, relative to the railroad from that place to Toccoa City, and urged that the business men of Atlanta aid the enterprise. The letter is from John H. Jones & Co., and reads in substance as follows: "We are engaged in building a railroad from Elberton to Toccoa City. When finished a large majority of the trade will go to Atlanta from Elbert, Hart, Franklin and Hall. Work is now progressing and we are determined to build it. When completed it will carry from 20,000 to 30,000 bales of cotton annually to the Air-Line Railroad either for Atlanta or to send East, probably to Baltimore, and where the cotton goes trade will follow."

The following gentlemen passed through here Tuesday evening [illegible] Augusta, as delegates from the Galveston Cotton Exchange: C. E. Richards, M. Quinn, J. M. Wathrew, W. D. Berry, A. G. Mills.

Commercial circles in New Orleans were startled Thursday to learn that the well known and highly respected firm of J. U. & H. M. Payne had succumbed to the present necessities growing out of the devastating overflow. Their assets amount to hundreds of thousands, it is to hoped the firm will regain their feet at an early day. A member of the stated to a representative of the "Bulletin" that since the flood the St. Louis banks have refused to let out their capital in the South, alleging that everything here is so chaotic it would be unsafe.

Judge O. A. Lochrane.

We believe that we express the earnest wish of the majority of the National Republicans, as well as of Conservative men unaffiliated with either party, in the Fifth Congressional District, by suggesting our distinguished fellow-citizen, Judge O. A. Lochrane, as the Great Administration candidate of this District for the next United States Congress, without the formality of the proposed nominating convention at Griffin, June the 18th.

No better nor stronger man could be selected by the people to represent this important District in the National Congress. Let the voice of the PEOPLE speak and indorse the sincere views of
MANY NATIONAL REPUBLICANS.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA WEED TONIC, AND MANDRAKE PILLS. These medicines have undoubtedly performed more cures of Consumption than any other remedy known to the American public. They are compounded of vegetable ingredients, and contain nothing which can be injurious to the human constitution. Other remedies advertised as cures for Consumption, probably contain opium, which is a dangerous drug in all cases, and if taken freely by consumptive patients, it must do great injury; for its tendency is to confine the morbid matter in the system, which, of course, must make a cure impossible. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is warranted not to contain a particle of opium: It is composed of powerful but harmless herbs, which act on the lungs, liver, stomach and blood, [illegible] secretions, and expel all the diseased matter from the body. These are the only means by which Consumption can be cured, and as Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills are the only medicines which operate in this way, it is obvious they are the genuine cure for Pulmonary Consumption. Each bottle of this invaluable medicine is accompanied by full directions. Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. june4-deod1m

DR. CALHOUN'S LIVER PILLS.

I AM engaged in the manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last 35 years, and has taken precedence over all other Family preparations by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supercede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incidental to this climate. With but few exceptions they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from druggists, merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yield readily to this preparation.

For sale by all druggists.

Price 50 cents a box.

None genuine unless it bears the signature of N. C. Williams and picture of Dr. Calhoun. Address N. C. WILLIAMS,
